1. AdelaideDuncanofBrackenbend - new name returned & new device pending

We could find no support for "- bend" as part of a byname--Smith's "EnglishPlaceName Elements" does not have it listed, for example, Edward Harrington's "The Meaning of EnglishPlaceNames", Blackstaff Press, Belfast (1986), p. 148 cites "Bent" from the OE "beonet", but the only example found was a prefix in Bentley, Steffan Firebrand mentions that we already have "Riversbend", but that is actually registered as "River's Bend", which was registered in Dec of 1982, and cannot be used to support this name. Since the submitter does not allow major changes to the name, we cannot accept the submission in shortened forms: "AdelaideDuncan". If feel that we have no choice but to return the name submission for further documentation.

Device does not conflict with Helmer Marcollo du Corbier (4/73): "Sable, a leather back turtle ergant displayed Or." with one CD each for change of tincture of half of the field and half the primary. It will be held pending resubmission of the name.

2. AlexanderRobison - new name accepted & new device accepted

SCA heraldry only uses the diminutive name of a charge when there are multiple members of the group, so this has been reblazoned to use fess rather than a bar.

3. ConnorMcPhaddin - new device pending

Perchevronargentandazure,two crossed roses crossed fitched azure and dexter arm in fitch clenched counterchanged.

The device submission is being pending until we can consult with the submitter about the tincture of the gauntlet. Armordoes not have a "proper" tincture--as colored, the gauntlet is grey, not argent (which should be white), which is not a valid heraldic tincture. NOTE: This is not a contrast problem, because grey is considered to be a metal, not a color.

4. EastKingdom - new herald name accepted

OED dates "diadem" to 1290, Random House Compact Unabridged Dictionary dates "diademe" (Anglo-French), "diadēma" (Greek) or "diadēma" (Latin) to between 1250 and 1300.

5. El'azarbenShemu'el - new name returned & new device pending

Or,chappeployépurpure,asea-lionerecttosinistervert.

The name as documented in Morlet (Volum II, not I), is "El'azar", not "El'azar". Because the submitter allows no changes, and the submitted form is not supported by the documentation, we have no choice but to return the name submission. The device submission will be held, pending receipt of a revised submission.

6. EizevonFinkenäi - new device returned

Per bend azure and sable, adragon couchant argent.

Conflicts with Valinadel Moreno (8/93) Persaltireazureandsable, adragon couchant, wings levated and addorsed, header argent, breathing flames to chief proper. One CD for the field.

There is no difference for the head position and the flames. Note that had the new device been drawn properly dormant, with the wings fully closed, there might be a CD for the wings, but it would probably need to go to Laure for a visual check.

7. GarretFeinsod - new device accepted

Azure,achevronandomachief(Or,threemullet)sazure.

The device is clear of Geoffrey de Bellac, Azure,achevronOr,surmounted by a natural dolphin fesswise argent, and omachief(Or) threemascles azure. There is the obvious CD for the dolphin. There is a second CD for the substantial change of tertiary charge (mullet vs mascle) per RISX.4.j.ii. This rule (unlike X.2.) requires only that the submitted armory be simple for it to apply. Geoffrey's device is not simple, but Garret's submission is, so the rule applies.

The submitter should draw the chevron thick and the mullet should be spaced farther apart on the chief.

8. LiliasdeCheryngton - new name accepted & new device accepted

Vert,acrequier argent.

- The documented form in R&W cited on the LoL is 'Cheryngton' in 1383. We find 'de Cherinton' in Bardsley, p175 under 'Cherrington' dated to 1271. Given the two, we believe that 'de Cheryngton' should be acceptable.
- A crequier, according to the PicDic, is a stylized cherry-tree used in the canting arms of the family "Crequy" in 1450. Parker lists it as a wild plum or cherry tree, and it appears in the O&A under "Plant-Other". No conflicts were found.
- 9. Michael Mac Calluim of Edinburgh - new device returned
Sable, on a saltire argent five mullets gules.
 Conflicts with Annela de Tourl Coimtaine (973) Sable on a saltire argent five shamrocks vert, with only one CD for the changes to the tertiaries. Also conflicts with Dianne of the Golden Chalice, Sable, on a saltire argent a chalice Or enflamed sable. There is only the one (maximum) CD for changes to the tertiary group.
- 10. Millicent verch Rhys - new name accepted & new device returned
Gules, on a pale Or, a torch enflamed sable.
 Conflicts with the badge of Mary Margaret of Derby: Gules, on a pale Or three bat wings dexter in saltire gules. There is a maximum of one CD for change of type and color and number of tertiaries (as per X.4.j-change to charges placed entirely on other charges may create one clear difference.)
- 11. Rhonwen Glyn Conwy - new name accepted & new device accepted
Vert, a bend wavy argent, overall a bottle nosedolphin in aiant countermeury Or.
 Although the documentation for Rhonwen does not date this name to period (a requirement for documentation), Rhonwen was ruled SCA-compatible by Da'ud (1/96, p7/Rhonwen Briana MacLean).
- There is no outright ban on counter-changing an inanimate charge over a line of division as one comment mentioned as an analogous case. Precedent only notes that this practice can reduce identifiability. We note that this particular submission may have problems with identifiability, but will leave it to the College of Arms to determine if this is an insurmountable problem.
- 12. Saige verch Eynon - new name accepted & new device returned
Purple, on a sun argent, an open book vert.
 The pronunciation of the given names should be "Sie-geh" (accent and long I in first syllable), not like English "sage".
- These submitted device conflicts with Richenda Arabella Letellier de Tremont Per pale azure and purple, on a compass star argent an other vert, with one CD for the field.
- There is no CD for the change of the type of tertiary, because this device does not qualify as "simple" under X.4.j.ii. The SCA counts compass stars and suns as equivalent for purposes of conflict. Please note that this is only one among a number of conflicts.
- 13. Temairingen Aeda - new name accepted & new device returned Submitted as Azure, a unit rampant Or, in base a compass star argent, within a bordure Or.
 The device is emblazoned (which trumps the written description) is actually Azure, a unit rampant Or, in base a compass star argent, within a bordure Or.
 Conflicts with Katarina von Danzig (4/99) Azure, a unit rampant Or crined and queued argent, a bordure Or, with only 1 CD for the addition of the star. Crining and queuing are not significant for purposes of differing. Salient and rampant are treated as equivalent for purposes of conflict.
- 14. Temairingen Aeda - new alternatename returned
 Submitted name: "Tara Hewes"
Tara was ruled to be not registerable in the SCA on the 1/94 LoAR: "The prior registration of Tara as a given name hinges on the statement "If the given name and the placename [Temair] are identical in Irish, and Tara is available for the latter, then it should be acceptable as an Anglicization of the former." The problem is that Tara is not an acceptable Anglicization of Temair: only the genitive veca so of the name: Temra (pronounced approximately 'tev-ra). Tara is not an Anglicization of Temair but rather an English name for the place derived specifically from the context in which it appears as a placename (e.g., "hill of Tara"). (As a similar case occurs with Erin, as a poetic English name for Ireland based on the genitive veca (Eireann) of the Irish name Eire.) Since the given name Temair would not normally be found in the genitive, it is unlikely that it would be taken into English in the genitive form."
- 15. William fitz Bubba - resub badge accepted
Sable, a chess rook argent.
 With the permission to conflict, the only other conflict is the submitter's own armory: Sable, a chess rook within a bordure argent. We automatically assume permission is granted to conflict with your own armory.
