This is not acceptable by ... precedent, which requires that the brown fox proper be all brown ..." This submission features an all-brown fox in order to fix this problem.

<http://www.arts.gla.ac.uk/sesll/englang/ugrad/readings/EMod/brilliana.htm> shows her name as BRILLIANA HARLEY.

de la Hay is after Richard de la Hay (d. 1185), found [on a page titled "Ancestors of Paul Bailey MCBRIDE"] at <http://homepages.rootsweb.com/~pmcbride/rfc/gw40.htm>.

[I suspect this name can be documented using just Withy and R&W, but the consulting herald doesn't own a copy of either.]

This submission adds a bordure to clear this conflict.

Holding name: Roland of Endeweard

If his name must be changed, he cares most about the meaning 'Roland of Endeweard'.

His name Roland d'Endeweard was returned on the Dec. 2006 LoAR: "this byname combines French and English in a single name phrase in violation of RfS III.1.a, Linguistic Consistency. We would change it to Roland de Endeweard; because de is found in English names, this would put the name into a fully English form. However, this would change the language of the preposition from French to English or Latin; as the submitter will not accept major changes, we cannot change the language of this element. His household name was registered under the holding name Roland of Endeweard." This submission changes the name to the form suggested in the return.
