Submission	Description	Decision
New Badge	Per fess engrailed argent and azure, a serpent headed at both ends knowed in a Heneage knot inverted counterchanged vert and argent, and issuant from dexter chief a sun in his splendor gules and issuant from sinister chief a moon in her plentitude purple	Forwarded

Notes:

This submission has a complexity count of 8. Commenters were concerned that this may run afoul of our long-standing prohibition of Celtic knotwork, but since this is a specific named knot we will pass this upward for Wreath's consideration.

2: Concordia of the Snows, Barony of

Submission	Description	Decision
New Order Name	Order of Emeralldes of Concordia of the Snows	Forwarded
New Badge	(Fieldless) On a step-cut gemstone vert in pale the letters O and E Or	Forwarded

Order is one of the listed designators for Order names found in SENA Appendix E.

Emeralldes is the singular form of the word <Emerald> found in the Middle English Dictionary dated to a1500 (1413) in the entry for a1500(1413) *Pilgr.Soul(Eg 615)/(u) <https://quod.lib.umich.edu/cgi/m/mec/med-idx?type=byte&byte=48474313&egdisplay=compact&egs=48478440 5.6.9lb> The fift world., so thikke sette of grene emeralldes stones: þat is of the prophetes & patriarkes.

This badge is to be associated with Order of Emeralldes of Concordia of the Snows, submitted on this letter.

Notes:

The lettering is in the Uncial hand.

3: Concordia of the Snows, Barony of

Submission	Description	Decision
New Badge	(Fieldless) On a snowflake argent a ram's horn fesswise reversed azure	Forwarded

This submission is to be associated with Order of the Ram's Horn of Concordia of the Snows, registered to Concordia of the Snows, Barony of in May of 2015 (via the East).

Notes:

Submitters were concerned that the snowflake as depicted was not recognizable, and did not resemble snowflakes previously registered to the Barony. Brunissende Dragonette supplied a relevant precedent:

There has been some confusion that in the cases when the use of a now prohibited charge was allowed under the grandfather clause, the depiction used in the new submission had to be the exact depiction registered. This is incorrect. In case like here, what is grandfathered to the group is the use of a snowflake. Using the exact same depiction is only required when the specific depiction of a registrable charge has become unregistrable.

Here, what is prohibited is the charge type: a "snowflake" and not the precise drawing they used once. Thus any reasonable and identifiable depiction of a snowflake is registrable using the grandfather clause.

In some cases what is grandfathered is a particular, now unregistrable, depiction of a (usually registrable) charge. In that case, invoking the Grandfather Clause would require the depictions to match very closely the registered form. [Nordskogen, Barony of., April 2015, Northshield-A]

The Barony has approved updated artwork, which will be used on the External Letter of Intent.

4: Concordia of the Snows, Barony of

Submission	Description	Decision
New Badge	(Fieldless) On a step-cut gemstone argent in pale the letters O and D azure	Forwarded

This submission is to be associated with Order of Diamond of Concordia of the Snows, registered to Concordia of the Snows, Barony of in September of 2015 (via the East).

Notes:

The lettering is in the Uncial hand.

5: Concordia of the Snows, Barony of

Submission	Description	Decision
New Badge	(Fieldless) On a step-cut gemstone azure in pale the letters O and S argent	Forwarded

This submission is to be associated with Order of Sapphire of Concordia of the Snows, registered to Concordia of the Snows, Barony of in September of 2015 (via the East).

Notes:

The lettering is in the Uncial hand.

6: Concordia of the Snows, Barony of

Submission	Description	Decision
New Badge	Azure, a snowflake environed of a snake in annulo vorant of its own tail argent	Forwarded

This submission is to be associated with Populace.

Notes:

Submitters were concerned that the snowflake as depicted was not recognizable, and did not resemble snowflakes previously registered to the Barony. Brunissende Dragonette supplied a relevant precedent:

There has been some confusion that in the cases when the use of a now prohibited charge was allowed under the grandfather clause, the depiction used in the new submission had to be the exact depiction registered. This is incorrect. In case like here, what is grandfathered to the group is the use of a snowflake. Using the exact same depiction is only required when the specific depiction of a registrable charge has become unregistrable.

Here, what is prohibited is the charge type: a "snowflake" and not the precise drawing they used once. Thus any reasonable and identifiable depiction of a snowflake is registrable using the grandfather clause.

The Barony has approved updated artwork, which will be used on the External Letter of Intent.

Commenters were also concerned about potential conflict with the badge of Isaac de Hugo, registered in May of 1992 (via the Middle):

Azure, an estoile of eight rays within an annulet and a bordure all argent.

If there is no difference granted between an estoile and a snowflake, there may be conflict. However, no precedent was found on the matter, so this submission is commended to Wreath for consideration.

7: Conrad Järnhand

Submission	Description	Decision
New Name	Conrad Järnhand	Forwarded
New Device	Argent, three bendlets vert between a death's head gules and a sinister hand apaumy sable	Forwarded

Submitter desires a masculine name.
 No major changes.
 Meaning (not specified) most important.
 Spelling (not specified) most important.

Conrad is a male given name found in "Medieval German Given Names from Silesia" by Talan Gwynek (Brian M. Scott), dated from 1281-1455.

<https://www.s-gabriel.org/names/talan/bahlow/bahlowMasc.html>

Järnhand is a byname meaning "Iron Hand" found in Svenska Akademiens Ordbok as Järn-hand http://www.saob.se/artikel/?seek=j%C3%A4rne-land&pz=6#U_J259_208706 and dated to 1589.

8: Dýrfinna Sigurdsdóttir

Submission	Description	Decision
New Name	Dýrfinna Sigurdsdóttir	Forwarded
New Device	Argent, an oak tree fructed and eradicated between two ravens migrant to chief and on a chief sable three thors hammers argent	Forwarded

Submitter desires a feminine name.
Language (Norse) most important.

Dýrfinna is a feminine given name found in GB p 9, FJ p 348; CV pp 111-112, 154 s.v. dýr, dýrr, Finnar.

Sigurðr is a male given name found in GB p 14; FJ pp 346, 351 s.n Sig-, varðr; CV pp 526-527 s.v. sigr, varðr; NR s.nn Sigvarðr/Sigurðr, Sig-, Varðr, siggi.

According to the rules for the formation of patronymics in GB p 17, the byname should be Sigurðsdottir.

Notes:

During commentary, ffride wiffsdotter noted "Lind col. 889 sn. Sigurðr notes the earlier form of the genitive is Sigurðar, and the later form is Sigurðz. As the submitter wants a Norse name, with the -dóttir patronymic, then I'd assume she wants an Old Norse name, and hence Dýrfinna Sigurðardóttir."

We have confirmed with the submitter that if the two name elements can be documented for temporal compatibility, she would prefer to have her originally submitted name of Dýrfinna Sigurðsdóttir, and is willing to forgo her preference for "Norse".

If the elements cannot be documented for temporal compatibility, she is willing to accept the suggested change to Dýrfinna Sigurðardóttir.

ffride wiffsdotter offered the following information regarding the matter:

... the reason why you see the change from Sigurðar to ending in -s for the genitive, is because it stopped being spelled with an ð or þ and the people writing documents treated it as a d. So, looking closer at Lind, I can find -ds and -ðar/-þar, but not actually -ðs or -þs.

Lind col. 207 sn. Dýrfinna
Dyrfinna Gislad., Diplomatarium Islandicum 1487

Lind col. 889 sn. Sigurðr
col 893 has some genitive examples:
Sigurdz, Diplomatarium Islandicum, 1474
Sigurdhs, Diplomatarium Norvegicum, 1380
Sighurðar, Diplomatarium Norvegicum, 1308

Sigurðrs, Diplomatarium Norvegicum, 1378 (see:
http://www.dokpro.uio.no/perl/middelalder/diplom_vise_tekst_2016.prl?b=4920&s=n&str=Sigu%

and in col. 894:

Siugurðs, Norges Gamle Love, vol 1 p. 393, 5th and 10th lines up from the bottom of the main text.

(<http://da2.uib.no/cgi-win/WebBok.exe?slag=lesinnhald&bokid=ngl1&innhaldid=>)

It's from sometime before 1263

With this information, it may be plausible to argue for an interpolated Sigurðsdottir, based on the Norwegian and Icelandic examples.

Earlier precedents for -dottir being used in Iceland and Norway:

September 2015 LoAR sn. Dagny Roðbertsdottir

(<https://heraldry.sca.org/loar/2015/09/15-09lar.html#386>)

In commentary, ffride wlfssdotter noted that the spelling -dottir is found in 15th century Iceland in Diplomatarium Islandicum, so it is compatible in a patronym formed from the Icelandic name Roðbert.

February 2016 LoAR sn. Sarra Olafsdottir

(<https://heraldry.sca.org/loar/2016/02/16-02lar.html#229>)

"Luckily for the submitter, Liber documented Sarra in commentary as a 16th century German given name and Olafsdotter as a 15th century Norwegian name....In addition, ffride wlfssdotter documented the -dottir spelling using Diplomatarium Norvegicum."

Commenters felt that the ravens were difficult to recognize. With the submitter's approval, Thory Pallet has provided new artwork.

9: Dýrfinna Sigurdsdottir

Submission	Description	Decision
New Badge	Azure, a squirrel and a bordure argent seme of acorns proper	Forwarded

Notes:

Although the color corrector reads the acorns as gules, they are very clearly brown in the original submission art. Commenters offered a more clear blazon, “Azure, a squirrel argent and a bordure semy of acorns proper.”

10: Dýrfinna Sigurdsdóttir

Submission	Description	Decision
New Badge	Gules, a panther rampant Or spotted sable incensed and maintaining in its dexter paw a sword palewise inverted and a bordure Or	Forwarded

11: Edmund Forster

Submission	Description	Decision
Resub Badge	Per bend wavy argent and sable, semy of swords and a praying mantis statant vert	Forwarded

This submission is to be associated with House of the Mantis

This badge was returned on the 4/2018 LoAR: "This badge is returned for lack of documentation. No evidence was provided, and none could be found, for armorial depictions of insects in profile in any posture other than statant. As they are non-quadrupedal, insects are unable to be statant erect, which is an explicitly quadrupedal posture.

Upon resubmission, please consult the device of Takayama Hitoshi, Sable, a mantis statant between three cherry blossoms argent, registered November 2016, for a reasonable depiction of a mantis in profile."

We believe this redraw addresses the issue.

Notes:

We have corrected the blazon for the xLoI: Per bend wavy sable and argent, semy of swords argent and a praying mantis statant vert.

12: Elen Alswith of Eriskay

Submission	Description	Decision
New Badge	(Fieldless) A cross lozengy Or and overall a millrind argent	Forwarded

13: Iriniia Mieszkowa

Submission	Description	Decision
New Name	Iriniia Mieszkowa	Forwarded

Submitter desires a feminine name.

No major changes.

Meaning (Northern Slavic (Polish) "child of Mieszko") most important.

Iriniia is a feminine Russian given name found in Paul Goldschmidt's Dictionary of Period Russian Names - Section H-J at <https://heraldry.sca.org/names/paul/h-j.html> as a variant of Irina.

Mieszkowa is a constructed patronymic byname from the male Polish given name Mieszko found in the Historical Dictionary of Poland, JJ Lerski et al: accessed via Google Books: <https://books.google.com/books?id=QTUTqE2difgC&printsec=frontcover&dq=Historical+Dictionary+of+Poland&hl=en&sa=X&ved=0ahUKEwi30pKhgpDcAhWGTN8KHR0UAFgQ6AEIKTAA#v=onepage&q=Mieszko&f=false> and in Medieval Lands, 1st Ed; C Cawley (Foundation for Medieval Genealogy) at <http://fmg.ac/Projects/MedLands/POLAND.htm> and <http://fmg.ac/Projects/MedLands/SILESIA.htm>

Northern Slavic (Polish) and Eastern Slavic (Russian) name elements can be combined as per SENA Appendix C.

Notes:

During kingdom commentary, ffride wlfssdotter noted that the ending of the byname was not correct for the meaning the submitter wanted. After consultation with the client, who supplied more information about the byname, a new and approved name form was submitted to EK and is appended to this Laurel level submission.

<https://searchworks.stanford.edu/view/8659916> - Stanford catalog item about Gertruda Mieszkowna

<https://www.scribd.com/document/30025312/Gertruda> - information about the manuscript that mentions Gertruda Mieszkowna.

In consultation with the submitter, it was determined that she preferred the form "Mieszkowna", and she has submitted new paperwork to that effect which will be included in the xLOI.

14: Jens Brusason

Submission	Description	Decision
New Name	Jens Brusason	Forwarded

Submitter desires a masculine name.

No major changes.

Spelling (none noted) most important.

Jens is a masculine given name dated to 1410 from Denmark found in the LoAR for Sept 2007 under <http://heraldry.sca.org/loar/2007/09/07-09lar.html#139>, the entry for Maren Rikarðsdottir DGP Fornavne [Knudsen Gunnar, Marius Kristiansen, & Rikard Hornby, Danmarks Gamle Personnavne, Vol. I: Fornavne] under marina has 1410 <Maren>, Datter af Hr. Jens Mikkelsen, 1410

Brusason is a patronymic byname found in Lind, s.n. "Brusi-a" column 173, lists Kængr Brusason 1015.

Notes:

19: Mikjáll bogmaðr

Submission	Description	Decision
New Household Name	House of Darostur	Forwarded

No major changes.

Sound (darrow-stur) most important.

Darostur is a constructed English compound placename/locative surname. The pattern of creating such placenames is found in Juliana de Luna's article "Compound Placenames in English" <http://medievalscotland.org/jes/EnglishCompoundPlacenames/>

Daro- is found as a prototheme of unknown etymology in the inherited surnames Darocott, Darowell, Darowent and Darowood/Darewood, all found in the Family Search Historical Records. Daro- may be derived from the surname Dare or from the OE personal name Dēor (wild animal, deer), found in Watts, s.nn. Daresbury, Darley, Dargate; and R&W sn Dare. Of the examples listed, Darowent is probably from the ME went (way, passage). It could also be related to the town of Went, named after the River Went (Ekwall, s.n. Went) stur refers to the River Stour or towns named after the river (Ekwall, s.n. Stour; Watts, s.n. River Stour). Although is is most frequently found as a prototheme (eg Watts, Stourbridge, Stourton, Stourpaine) it also is found as a deuterotheme (Estesture, Heststhure, Swanesture). The latter, Swanesture, refers to the River Test, not the River Stour (MED), showing that it can also be found, rarely, as a generic toponym. The spelling Stur is attested as a 13th century toponymic byname.

The pattern of House of <placename> is found in Sharon L Krossa's "A Brief, Incomplete and Rather Stoppag Article about European Household and other Group Names before 1600" <http://medievalscotland.org/names/eurohouseholds/index.shtml> and in the March 2013 LoAR Cover Letter.

Submission	Description	Decision
New Name	Oissíne mac Bróccín	Forwarded

New Device	Or, a squirrel maintaining an acorn sable and on a chief azure three acorns slipped and leaved Or	Forwarded
------------	---	-----------

Submitter desires a masculine name.

No major changes.

Sound (First syllable roughly similar to Oz) most important.

Language (9th Century Gaelic) most important.

Culture (9th Century Gaelic) most important.

Oissíne is found as an Irish Gaelic male given name in Index of Names in the Irish Annals:

Oissine by Mari Elspeth nic Bryan (Kathleen M. O'Brien):

<https://medievalscotland.org/kmo/AnnalsIndex/Masculine/Oissine.shtml>

Bróccín is a male Irish Gaelic given name found in "Scottish Gaelic Given Names For Men", by Sharon L. Krossa in this spelling dated to the early 12th Century

(<https://medievalscotland.org/scotnames/gaelicgiven/men/broccin.shtml>) and is also the name of the submitter's father on the East Lol of 2018-02-28.
